On the cover:

Built in 1849, the East Point Lighthouse in Heislerville, Cumberland County, is a relatively rare example of a lighthouse with an integrated keeper’s dwelling and tower. It is currently the oldest lighthouse, and the only one that is still operational, in the Delaware River and Bay area. The lighthouse guided vessels in and out of the Maurice River, and was an important element in the maritime economy of the area.

In early 1971 a group of concerned local citizens formed the Maurice River Historical Society with the goal of saving the historic building from destruction. Through the mid 1970s, funded only by local donations, they succeeded in rebuilding the roof and lantern room. A grant award from the New Jersey Historic Trust in 1996 helped fund stabilization of the exterior masonry; a subsequent grant in 2000 helped fund interior restoration work.

The lantern room offers a panoramic view of the surrounding land and water and is a favorite subject of photographers and painters alike.

Dear Friend,

We are pleased to present the 2004 New Jersey Historic Trust Annual Report, which describes many of the outstanding historic preservation projects that benefited from funding provided by the Garden State Historic Preservation Trust Fund and the Historic Preservation Bond Program.

While a record number of 38 projects were completed and closed in 2004, the Trust awarded $18 million in new grants to 85 preservation projects across the State. Clearly, the demand for preservation across New Jersey is stronger than ever.

The New Jersey Historic Trust, a Department of Community Affairs (DCA) affiliate, provides financial support through Capital Preservation and Historic Site Management Grants. Capital Preservation Grants fund “bricks and mortar” projects, while Historic Site Management Grants provide support to help organizations make better planning decisions regarding their historic treasures. This report highlights the many projects we supported this past year.

New Jersey's rich history has laid the foundation for where we stand today. Together, we can preserve the sites and buildings that represent our history, and allow future generations to learn from our treasured past. Thank you for your role in preserving New Jersey's history. We look forward to working with you on future preservation projects.

With warm regards,

Richard J. Codey
Acting Governor
State of New Jersey

Message from the New Jersey Historic Trust

In 2004, New Jersey Historic Trust trustees and staff enthusiastically administered two grant programs. The first grant round of the Cultural Trust Capital Preservation Grant Program resulted in approval of $150,000 in grants to 11 nonprofit organizations. This program is administered in cooperation with the New Jersey Cultural Trust and will be offered annually.

The fourth grant round of the Garden State Historic Preservation Trust Fund awarded 85 matching grants totaling $18 million. Grant recipients are located in every county in the state and include house museums, firehouses, industrial buildings and municipal halls. The Trust accepted grant applications for Historic Site Management Grants in 2005 and will accept both Capital Preservation and Historic Site Management Grants applications in 2006.

Several new trustees joined the Trust’s board this year, and the staff welcomed two new program staff members. With a new executive director, the Trust looks forward to developing the grant programs, promoting the Trust’s other assistance programs, and developing new cooperative projects with state and nonprofit organizations.

The Trust promoted its grant and funding programs at a number of conferences and through a series of workshops presented by the Department of Environmental Protection’s Green Acres Program. In addition, the Trust cooperatively published three issues of the New Jersey Gazette newsletter with its partners, the NJ State Archives and Historical Commission.

In the coming year, the Trust looks forward to assisting new grantees with their planning and construction projects and in reaching out to the constituents who can benefit from the grant programs that help preserve New Jersey’s historic and architectural legacy.

New Jersey Historic Trust

Established in 1967, the New Jersey Historic Trust is the only nonprofit historic preservation organization in New Jersey created by state law. The Trust provides financial support, protection and technical assistance through its six active programs:

The Garden State Historic Preservation Trust Fund guarantees funding through 2008, allowing the Trust to meet New Jersey’s capital preservation needs. Since 2000, a total of $42.6 million has been awarded from this fund to help preserve 232 landmark properties. This program continues the significant funding of the Historic Preservation Bond Program (1987-1997), which provided more than $52 million in matching grants to 182 capital preservation projects.

The Cultural Trust Capital Preservation Grant Program awards funds to nonprofit history or humanities organizations for stabilization, preservation and accessibility improvement projects at historic properties. This program is administered in cooperation with the New Jersey Cultural Trust.

The Historic Preservation Revolving Loan Fund provides long-term, low-interest loans for acquisition, rehabilitation or restoration of historic properties.

The Emergency Grant and Loan Fund provides limited seed funds for critically needed work on endangered historic properties.

The Preservation Easement Program ensures the protection of privately-owned historic property in perpetuity, through the use of deed restrictions. Property owners may be eligible for charitable deduction tax benefits through this program.

The New Jersey Legacies Program encourages the donation of historic real estate to the Trust, and donors may realize significant income and estate tax benefit. Donated real estate is protected by historic preservation easements before resale.
